Beer Issue To Warm Political Hearts As Election Date Nears

Carmel found itself this week facing another political battle that will rival in opposition and propaganda, the recent Sunset school trustee fight.

But this time, it will not be an issue of candidates—but a cause. Every wet and every dry voter in Carmel is already being solicited to cast ballots for or against the sale of beer in the village at the special election scheduled to be held on May 15.

Present indications are that the election will be the hottest that has been staged in the village with a record vote expected to be cast. House to house canvassing is reported now underway and long arguments for and against the sale of beer are being printed for distribution to voters.

Many residents who are definitely wet in more ways than one, are supporting the dry cause maintaining that Carmel at any cost should be kept free of alcoholic beer.

"Carmel has always remained different and out-of-step with other communities," one wet, planning to vote dry said this week. "Carmel has always prospered because it has remained different. If we continue to be dry, when every other city is wet, we'll all benefit from the publicity."

Another resident, definitely dry, but voting wet, explained his stand: "It's about time," he said, "that we realize that prohibition is not the way that leads to temperance. I am for selling beer in Carmel."

Despite the conflicting state bill now up before the legislature, which removes all police powers from cities in regard to liquor regulations, Carmel will hold its special election as scheduled, on May 15.

Decision not to postpone the election was made at a special meeting of the council held Wednesday afternoon. Under the terms of a new resolution adopted by the council, voters will cast ballots only on one measure: "Shall Carmel remain dry or allow the sale of beer, under state and city regulations?"

There will be two precincts for balloting, one at Sunset school, and the other at the Carmel fire house.

Police Chief To Demand Business License Fees Due

Carmel merchants and others in business must pay their tax licenses at once or immediate court action will follow.

This was the warning issued today by Police Chief Gus Englund who during the zero hour of when business licenses are due, displays the official badge of tax collector.

With the city council failing to take any definite action as to possible changes in business license fees, Chief Englund said he would start collecting the tax due at once.

He said that while he will not make any arrests, he will turn over the list of delinquent merchants to the city council with the recommendation that legal proceedings be instituted by City Attorney Argyll Campbell.

"It is my duty as a tax collector to take up these business license fees," Chief Englund said. "I will call on proprietors of all businesses in the city and urge immediate payment. If they don't pay, court action will be brought against them. I will make no arrests, however, until instructed to do so by the city council."

Under the terms of the present ordinance now in effect in Carmel, Chief Englund is empowered to close up a business which fails to pay its license fee.

Brand New Uniforms Fail To Fit Firemen's Shapely Curves

If any member of the Carmel fire department is invited to attend the Quartr'z Art ball, he will have to go without his newly purchased uniform.

Of the 21 suits ordered by the fire department and received here this week, only three of the suits fit the members. The others are either too large or too small.

For more than a year, the Carmel fire department has been raising money through benefit shows and other affairs to purchase the uniforms. It was not until recently that the necessary money was on hand and the order for the uniforms was put through.

The stalwart and manly figures of the firemen were then measured and then came more weeks of waiting until the uniforms were completed.

A few days ago, the uniforms arrived and the anxious firemen took them out of their packing case and tried them on. But they didn't have to look in the mirror—only three fitted!

And now they are again back in the hands of the tailors who are attempting to alter the uniforms to correspond with the figures of the local firemen.

"After all," Chief Leidig explained today, "we are not cranks on style. But we do want our uniforms to fit. If not, how can we fight fires in a genteel, artistic manner?"

Bicycle Riding Hits Carmel as Newest Fad

Days of the gay nineties were being recalled in Carmel today, as the feminine element was taking to bicycle riding not only to regain shapely curves but as new popular sport.

The fad which is spreading all over the country and which has resulted in bicycle manufacturers putting on extra crews, has caught already a number of Carmel women in its swirl. Grimes and Ruhl of Monterey, who are renting out bicycles, report that over 15 Carmel girls have taken out the "bikes" for daily and weekly rides.

Benefit Tea Will Be Given This Afternoon

Many Carmel residents will take in the benefit tea and bridge to be given at Mrs. Gustav Laumeister's home at Dolores near Santa Lucia this afternoon. Proceeds will be turned over to the Carmel Community church.

Bridge will start at 2 o'clock and tea will be served from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon. The public is cordially invited. Reservations for the bridge may be made by telephoning 690-W or 179-J.

60 Day Moratorium In Taxes Wins Favor Here

Hard-pressed property owners of Carmel and surrounding territory joined in with others throughout the state today in approving the 60 day tax moratorium recently passed by the senate and scheduled to be signed by Governor Rolph this week.

The moratorium means that property owners who failed to pay their county taxes on April 20 have until June 20 to do so.

Local Pistol Club To Use Radio In Novel Tournament

And now it's in pistol shooting tournaments that Carmel plans to be different.

Some time next month, members of the Carmel pistol club will compete with a pistol club in the east—the scoring all to be done over the air!

Through the suggestion and cooperation of Col. Clair Foster, famous Carmel radio amateur, the experiment in target practice, will feature one of the most unusual competitions that has ever been staged.

Members of the local club will gather at the Carmel range and shoot at their targets. The official score keeper will telephone in the figures to Col. Foster who in turn will radio them to an amateur in the east. The pistol club in the east will do the same, Col. Foster receiving the results here.

Despite the fact that the tournament will be staged three thousand miles apart, within a few minutes after the shooting has ceased, the scores will be totaled and the winner announced.

What club in the east will compete against the local group has not been decided, pending settlement of terms. At any rate, the tournament is expected to come off some time next month.

Carmel Driver Fined $100 By Judge Wood

P. A. McCrary, working for a Carmel real estate firm was poorer by $100 this week following a fine of that amount imposed by Police Judge George L. Wood.

McCrary was arrested by police when he turned over at the corner of Carmelo and Santa Lucia. Police claimed he was drinking and charged him with reckless driving. McCrary plead guilty and paid the fine.

Dame Justice Smiles As Eight Youths Freed of Venus Charge

Dame Justice smiled this week as the scales of the law balanced equally when the charges were aired in the juvenile court in Salinas against eight Carmel youths, accused of "kidnapping" and taking for a ride, Venus de Milo.

The eight youths, specifically facing malicious mischief charges in connection with playing a prank in the village, were brought before Superior Judge H. G. Jorgensen, presiding over the juvenile court.

Each of the youths took the stand and confessed to having taken the nude Venus from in front of the home of Fred Wermuth on San Carlos street and placing it at the intersection of Ocean avenue and San Antonio street.

The "kidnapping" of the statue occurred last December when residents awoke and found the arty Venus directing traffic at the intersection, one injured arm hanging limp. It was the broken arm that caused Wermuth to file a complaint against the youths, claiming that the damage to the statue would exceed over $500.

All of the eight youths, sons of prominent families, were certified to the juvenile court by Police Judge George L. Wood and last Saturday morning they appeared to answer the charges.

E. R. Morehead, principal of the Monterey high school attended by the youths, took the stand and testified to their fine record and unusually good behavior. Similar character testimony was given by Police Chief Gus Englund who said that the boys had never been in difficulty before.

In dismissing the charge, Judge Jorgensen warned them against future pranks in which property was damaged. He said that in view of the truthful testimony given by the boys and the recommendations of Principal Morehead and Chief Englund, it was advisable to return them to their homes rather than to make them wards of the juvenile court.

Will Talk on Matter Of Interest to Carmel

Carmel has distinct ideas of its own regarding advertising as it pertains to the village. And it has even more definite ideas regarding what is generally described as "boosting." Nevertheless, Carmel will undoubtedly enjoy a talk to be given on Monday, April 24th at 4 in the afternoon, at the Carmel Theatre (the Golden Bough) by Charles A. Horrworth, field secretary of the All-Year Club of Southern California.

This talk is being given under the auspices of the Carmel Business Association and is strongly recommended by those who have already heard Mr. Horrworth speak. The Carmel Woman's Club has been invited and, through its Vice President, Mrs. Willis G. White, has accepted the invitation with a great deal of interest.

Mr. Horrworth has an unusually appealing manner of telling people, such as those who live in and who love Carmel, just what can be done to attract the right people as residents and the best way to make our visitors carry away the most pleasant remembrances of the village and their stay here.

Not a "booster" as we use the term, but a fascinating speaker and one whose talk will long be remembered with pleasure. There is no charge connected with this talk and all who can get into the theatre will be welcome.

Remember the time, 4 o'clock in the afternoon of next Monday, April the 24th at the Carmel Theatre.

STOP STRIKING MATCHES
—and waiting for water to heat the place to turn on
is at the faucet!

OF COURSE it is not the mere striking of matches that makes the old-fashioned tank type of water heater such a nuisance. It is because someone always has to light the heater. It is because someone always has to wait for the water to heat, and always has to remember to turn off the water heater.

With an Automatic Gas water heater all this is different. You turn on hot water at the faucet. You learn to take its service for granted, a part of the modern living you enjoy. The first month of service is always a revelation—you wonder how you ever put up with any other kind of hot water service in your home.

There is no starting or stopping for anyone to remember. It is quiet, dependable, absolutely carefree. And all this for less cost per gallon of hot water than you pay for your present unsatisfactory hot water service.

Judge this Automatic service of hot water in your home for yourself; go and see the new Automatic Hot Water Heaters on display in the nearest P. G. & E. office or at your dealer's store. They are so easy to buy. As little as $4.85 down and $3.85 a month will place one in your home.

Natural Gas cuts the former cost of gas water heating as much as 53%.

Pilots, Giants, Manzanitas All Win In Exciting Ball Game

By Winsor Josselyn

All games last Sunday were up at the old home grounds in Carmel Woods. This was to give The Point diamond over to an Easter Egg riot for the kiddies, and several captains at the Woods muttered about missing players who had probably gone to The Point by mistake and stayed to hunt eggs with the bunnies.

A day of loud games, of dislocated bones and worn-out umpires. In summary: Pilots 11, Tigers, 2. Then, Giants 17, Shamrocks 16. And, Manzanita 11, Del Monte 6.

Which makes the averages (we hope):

Club Section	Won	Lost	P'ct.
Country Club	4	2	.666
Del Monte	4	3	.571
Manzanita	4	4	.500
Polo Club	2	5	.285
Community Section
Pilots	7	1	.875
Giants	5	3	.625
Shamrocks	3	7	.333
Tigers	2	7	.222

In the first game, the Tigers bumped into the Pilots, and in spite of high-power help from the sidelines they took the bump badly. The Tiger tribe got on base but couldn't go all the way around, despite heroic work by Charlie Van Riper. You must remember, of course, that the Pilots had Staniford, who banged a couple of triples and then a single, and Hicks and Parker who got on base every time and earned two runs apiece. These power players, plus the infield's awe-inspiring double plays when Tiger runners ran only to be put out, nailed the Tiger hide to the club house wall.

Second game was an extra inning thing with the Giants nosing out the Shamrocks 17-16. Mighty well matched in bat-power and lung-power. The Giants, however, were able to bunch their runs, getting six in the first inning and five in the eighth. Against this onslaught the Shamrocks threw Goodrich, Murphy and Tobiason to total eight runs among them. They even threw their hard working short stop bodily at home plate and dislocated his hand, but that one run could not be had. If the Shamrocks had played this way a few weeks ago they would be hearing, "Aha, the Shamrocks are doing it again—topping the League as they used to!"

Considerable excitement centered around the third game, where the mauling Manzanitas took on the durable Del Montes and won 11-6. It was this game that decided the relative standings of Del Monte and Country Club at the top of the Club Section list. Del Monte could get on base, but in spite of stand-bys Garnella and Gillette, and Nelson's good pitching, they couldn't get out in front. Manzanita pitcher Kelsey, his old self again, got on base three times and scored each time, which spurred Chew and Campbell to do almost as well. While out in left field their Mr. Hasty romped after flies in a way that brought profane whispers from sideline experts such as Henderson, Marble and Jones.

Next Sunday you should get through lunch as soon as possible in order to watch the Pilots and Giants in the first game at one o'clock. And you should have the rest of the afternoon free from relatives and city visitors, too, for the Polo Club and Del Monte will do pretty things in the second game starting at two-fifteen. The last game is no slouch (not with us playing in it) when the Manzanitas and Country Club start their free-for-all.

Umpires last Sunday were Staniford, Orcutt and Douglass, the first two taking the beating for three hours and twelve minutes straight, and to stalwarts such as these the League owes its long and vigorous life.

Beer positively will not be sold in the Hot Dog Palace, but you can refuel with cigarettes and soda pop and not miss a single play, and who wants to drink beer and sing at a baseball game, anyhow?

Local Cowboys To Compete At San Clemente Rodeo

Local cowboys will go to work next Sunday at beautiful Del Monte Ranch with the holding of the Second Annual San Clemente Rodeo. Due to get under way at 2 p.m., the Rodeo boasts a full program of out-West stunts, including bronc and steer riding, steer and calf roping, maverick races and other cowboy tricks. It is under the direction of Henry Stowell and Roy Fiske, proprietors of San Clemente. A small admission charge will admit the public.

Carmel Valley cowhands who will show their stuff include John Scott, Tex Raiburne, Henry Barnes, Cliff Wicks, Bill Radcliff, Bill Askew and Frank DeAmaral. Salinas cowhands include Del Owens and Jack Taylor, champion ropers, Marvin Roberts and Buck Williams. Riders from Monterey are Steve Jaeger, Tom Schofield, Rex Brown, Stuart Haldorn and Joe Algrava.

The cowboys will compete for cash prizes and for a silver engraved cup by Drury Saunders for the best bronc rider.

A batch of wild mountain stock is being held in readiness for this show with plenty of real bucking horses to give spectators their money's worth. A few of the fiercer broncs are Wasp, Silver and Snappy. It was Snappy who threw and nearly wrecked Marvin Roberts at the first annual Rodeo but Roberts is planning to turn out at next Sunday's show.

Sinclair Lewis Goes After Two Weeks' Stay

Sinclair Lewis, one of America's most famous authors, was on his way back east today, following a two weeks' stay on the Monterey peninsula. Lewis left with the first part of his new novel well under way.

During his stay, Lewis spent considerable time visiting former cronies of his in and around Carmel. Originally planning to stay only three days, Lewis remained for two weeks. He is planning to return next year with his wife, Dorothy Thompson, and may rent a cottage here in Carmel.

Ella Winter's New Book Now Published

Ella Winter's much heralded book on Russia, "Red Virtue" was on sale this week, following its publication by Harcourt, Brace & Co. The book which was written by Miss Winter in Carmel, deals with her experiences and views on conditions in Russia. It will be reviewed shortly in the columns of the Pine Cone.

Humphrey Recovering Following Operation

Harold Humphrey, a member of the Los Angeles stock exchange and for the past six months a resident of Carmel, was recovering this week from a serious emergency operation performed Monday night at the Carmel hospital.

Humphrey was stricken in the afternoon and then rushed to the hospital where he was operated on by Dr. David Matzke and Dr. Paul Hunter. He is expected to leave the hospital next week.

Tony Luhan Sings

By Hal Garrott

Denny-Watrous have presented many unique entertainments in their delightful little gallery on Dolores Street, but none more remarkable than the singing of Indian songs by Tony Luhan. Strange intervals, sliding sounds, gulpings, yippings, Nature noises ranging from a lonesome dog's yowling at the moon to a sharp fife-like pig squeal—these and many others (none of them bird-like or "musical") perplexed our ears.

These unplaceable gutturals that defy rhythmic analysis and musical notation, possess a certain primitive outline, differentiating them from mere dog yowling. Tuneful they are not, nor are they of the stuff music is made of.

In a charming introductory talk Una Jeffers told of Stokowski's attempt to catch these Indian songs—what a vacation Taos must have been for his sophisticated ears! Peeved at his failure, Stokowski smashed his recording device, but intends to come back with a better one.

The celebrated Mexican composer, Chavez, attempted to gather gems from such folk song, but sliding sounds are not to be caught. To date I have heard no practical or successful use of Indian music as thematic material. MacDowell, Chadwick and others have given us entrancing tone pictures of the Indian as the poetically inclined pale face idealizes him and his menage. But Indian music in the raw (as Tony Luhan exposes it) seems as unlikely to influence our composition as the Indian's way of life has affected the luxury-loving white man's civilization.

Perhaps in a native setting, by the fire, under the moon and stars, a chorus of youthfully resonant voices might lead me to a different conclusion.

Historical Pageant To Be Staged At Sunset School

A colorful pageant depicting scenes of European history will be presented by the Seventh Grade at Sunset School on Saturday afternoon, April 29th at two o'clock. While the performance will be given especially for principals of Monterey County who meet in Carmel that day, the public is urged to be present to enjoy the work of the children.

The pageant, directed by Anna Marie Baer, is entirely original, being worked out by the class in connection with its study of European History. Simple stage settings, lighting effects, and costumes, have been planned by members of the Seventh Grade art group.

The Pageant opens with a Prologue, in which the Master of Destiny holds court with the Three Fates, discussing the fate of past civilizations and the destiny of future nations. The scenes of the pageant which follow depict the unfolding destiny of European nations, beginning with the Barbarians, inhabiting Gaul, and including the Crowning of Charlemagne; a scene in the Monastery; the Crusaders in the Holy Land; Marco Polo in prison; a Medieval Fair; the French Revolution; and Napoleon at St. Helena; the pageant closing with an Epilogue in which the Master of Destiny holds court with the Three Fates, and with a new figure, the Spirit of Democracy.

Mildred Sahlstrom Wright Plays Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night Mildred Sahlstrom Wright gives a program of music for the violin in the Denny-Watrous Gallery. The occasion has been eagerly looked forward to, for it will be the first opportunity Carmel has had to hear Mrs. Wright in a solo program. From the reservation that are being made, Santa Cruz and outlying points will have a considerable representation in the audience.

Mertianna Towler, distinguished pianist of Berkeley, will be at the piano.

Mildred Wright came to Carmel some two years ago, heralded by such description as the following from the San Francisco Examiner: " . . . Here was a player with the soul of a musician . . . She has the Bohemian master's assuredness of technic. She has also temperament and can pour deviltry into her tone."

The "Bohemian master" with whom Mildred Wright studied in Prague for three years was no less than the great Sevcik, the teacher of Kubelik and many others.

Since coming to Carmel, Mrs. Wright has identified herself actively with community interests, joining the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra as its concert master and teaching and coaching students of the violin. She is a member of the Board of the Carmel Music Society and respected everywhere for her musicianship and brilliant technical facility.

The full program for tomorrow night follows:

Famous O'Neill Drama Comes To Carmel

By J. A. Kunstman

The brilliant Eugene O'Neill drama, "Strange Interlude," which ran for more than a year and a half on Broadway, comes to the screen at last, with Norma Shearer playing the intensely emotional heroine, Nina Leeds, and Clark Gable cast as Dr. Ned Darrell, whose influence plays havoc with her life.

The picture will open at the Carmel Theatre, for two days only, Sunday and Monday, April 23 and 24. The thoughts as well as the words of the characters are heard in "Strange Interlude." In order fully to appreciate this startling drama, audiences are requested to see the picture from the beginning. The times of the showing are—Sunday matinee, 2:48 and at night, 7.18 and 9.25.

The exceptionally strong cast also includes Alexander Kirkland, Ralph Morgan, Robert Young, May Robson, Maureen O'Sullivan, and H. B. Walthall.

Mrs. Vera Bernhart of San Francisco and Miss Alice Graham of Berkeley are guests in Carmel this week.

President's Day Plans Cover The Entire Peninsula

Plans for Monterey Peninsula's giant President's day observance ceremonies to be held at the Monterey Ball Park, are going ahead rapidly, following last Thursday evening's meeting of the "Support Roosevelt Club" at Bill Sorenson's store in New Monterey.

The club, organized recently by Sorensen, has over 300 members to date, and is exciting tremendous enthusiasm throughout the Peninsula. It is non-partisan in character, upholding the finest American principles of loyalty and united action, regardless of personal feeling.

At Thursday's meeting a number of committees were appointed to take action for the local celebration. These committees will meet again Thursday night at the Monterey Chamber of Commerce to carry plans to a definite conclusion.

Committees were appointed to promote the plan among civic, church, school and other organizations over the entire Monterey peninsula.

Rev. Mr. Chinn at Hospital Following Nerve Collapse

Following a nervous breakdown, suffered Monday morning, the Rev. Austin B. Chinn was taken to Dr. Samson's health resort at Santa Barbara where he will remain about a month.

Mr. Chinn, who for some time has been ill, conducted his Easter services and the following day broke down.

During his absence from All Saints church, the Rev. Willis G. White and Peter Mawdsley will conduct the services and manage the affairs of the church.

Mr. Chinn was taken by automobile to the Santa Barbara resort by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Mrs. Chinn accompanying them.

IS THAT SO?

By Winsor Josselyn

The Quartz Arts Ball, to be thrown at Del Monte the last Saturday of the month, has done more than start arguments as to how it is pronounced.

It has started intensive search for the person, or persons, having power to invite the guests. The Committee, as published in various city newspapers, is behaving strangely when approached one by one on the subject, despite bribing with beer and other legal delicacies.

But you (and you and you) may rest assured that at the right time the so-called "closed door policy" will be opened and invitations will shower down among the fortunates.

Further comments upon the Art Colony Capers, called by some low-wits The Four Quarts Ball, consist of "What To Wear?"

The main lament is, "Why, I haven't anything at all!"

That's fine! Come that way and you'll panic 'em.

Let 'em throw rocks at our new Mexican Ambassador Jo Daniels. I almost threw some at him myself—a historic rock in front of the wrecked Rheims Cathedral.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in ministerial black hat and bunchy umbrella, was sightseeing after the Armistice, trailed by lots of Navy brass hats and braid. I, as a buck private, but also an American citizen, attached myself to the entourage, giving Daniels a swell chance to do the right thing by the brave boys over there and let me listen to his guide's re-fighting of the war.

Did he? He did not. First thing I knew, he swept me with his famous non-seafaring gaze and a few seconds later a junior brass-and-braid officer chased me out of his outraged sight.

I've got those very Rheims rocks downstairs right now. Mexico, what am I offered?

Talk about these jig-saw puzzles being life-like . . . Why, a couple of young ladies were putting one together just the other day, closely watched by their jealous pet dog. When the last piece was fitted, there was a shattering bark from the dog and he leaped upon the puzzle and tore it limb from limb. He simply refused to let the two round-eyed hounds in the picture muscle in on his household.

"How," cried the artist, "can these modernists say they can paint the soul? Imagine, for instance, the soul of a cabbage. Bah!—it would only attract flies!"

New Children's Books Now Available Here

During the month of March a variety of new books have been added to the children's collection. For the younger readers there is a lovely story about Stumpy, a venturesome chipmunk, and two adorable new ones by Mary and Margaret Baker, who delighted so many small people with their Peacock Eggs. Patsy and the Leprechauns and The Lost Merbaby were written by Margaret, while Mary has illustrated them with the most entrancing silhouettes. Then there is the story of Flyaway Flippety, a baby stork, and his adventures as he travels south to spend his first winter in Egypt.

Children a little older will enjoy Benjamin's Book, in which he records his adventures with his twin sister and small brother, as well as Children of the Soil, the story of some Swedish children who live on a farm and find their work very hard until they win the friendship of a Tomte man.

For older boys and girls there is a new life of Nathaniel Hawthorne by his own granddaughter, Hildegarde Hawthorne. Even the grown-ups are enjoying this. If you have read The Three Musketeers you will enjoy The New Adventures of D'Artagnan, which M. Pemjean, the author, tells us are not entirely fictional, but based on the experiences of a real Captain of the King's Guard in the 17th century in France. The sea adventures of Captain E. Pryce Mitchell since the days of clipper ships will also find many enthusiastic readers among the boys, while the girls will like The Careers of Cynthia, the story of a girl who longed to become an artist. In the Herdboy of Hungary we have also in story form the early life of a famous Hungarian sculptor, Alexander Finta, who has been working in New York since 1923. Boys, especially, will enjoy this cowboy story of another land. Then there are two delightful stories of Indian days in our own North America, With Hearts Courageous and The Trail of the Ragged Fox.

A delightful tea party was given recently by Miss Patricia Field at her home on the Point. Among those present were Nancy and Sue Spitzer of Toledo. Ohio, Helen Richardson of Boston, Ruth Marion, Charlotte Laurence, Edwina and Dorothy Pinkham, Marguerite Tickle, Dagmar Cerwin and Mrs. Leslie J. Nichols.

The Bridge Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. B. McCarthy for a 10:30 a.m. bridge breakfast. Members present were: Mrs. C. J. Ryland, Mrs. J. E. Abernethy, Mrs. Stella Stafford Mather, Mrs. William Heathorne, Mrs. Elizabeth Titus, Mrs. David Scripture and Mrs. C. P. Burrows.

Among Carmel people at the bridge tea at the Country Club Wednesday of last week were: Mrs. Stella Stafford Mather, Mrs William Heathorne, Mrs. J. B. McCarthy, Mrs. Elizabeth Titus, Mrs. C. D. Serving Japanese foods in the Japanese manner overlooking a dainty Japanese garden with its grasses, pond, and bridge, and with the cherry blossoms now in full bloom.

You will relish beef or chicken suki-yaki

Suki-yaki is the Japanese challenge to national dishes the world over. A subtle blend of vegetables, daintily prepared, is the foundation for tender slices of Boneless Chicken, and Tofu, seasoned by the famous Shoyu sauce. It is served in the Japanese pan, especially designed to develop its flavor, and simmered briefly, until it reaches perfection.

Served with beer if you wish.

The Devil Walks

By Herbert Cerwin

George Arliss, had taken a walk with his dog, and had returned to his home at La Playa hotel for a short rest. The time was 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He rang for a bell boy.

"Bring us up some black tea," the famous actor requested.

And that's where our story begins. There was no black tea at the hotel. Quickly, Manager David Prince was brought into conference.

"There is no black tea in the hotel," he insisted, "but we'll have to borrow it."

Prince went to the room of one of the permanent guests at the hotel who has been an invalid for years. The guest, an Englishwoman, of course had the black tea on hand. Prince borrowed it, explaining that it was for George Arliss.

"Oh," said the guest, "I wish I could meet him sometime."

The black tea was served to Arliss, Manager Prince telling him how he obtained it, and the request of the woman that she would like to meet him.

Arliss looked at him out of the corner of his eye, sipped his tea and said not a word.

A half hour later there was a knock at the aged woman's door.

"Come in," she said.

George Arliss turned the knob and entered.

"I would deem it a pleasure to visit with you," he said and took a chair next to where the invalid woman was sitting.

Sinclair Lewis carried three books during his recent trip across the continent. One was an advance copy of his own novel, "Ann Vickers." The other two were books of poetry by Robinson Jeffers.

And while we're on photographs Edward Weston, one of the best portrait men in the business, is putting out a new type of picture.

Instead of an 8x10 enlargement, he is making a 3¼x4¼ contact print. The print is of course much smaller, but the results in detail obtained is amazing.

An inquisitive out-of-town subscriber who read something about Carmel Snow in this column, but didn't read far enough, dropped us a line, inquiring what we meant by Carmel snow?

Our Carmel Snow, however, has nothing to do with the weather. She was recently appointed fashion editor of Harper's Bazaar. And yes, she was named after Carmel.

Mrs. Courtland Arne was a visitor in San Francisco last week.

Newberry's Authentic Autobiography

That booklet of some twenty pages of letterhead size advertised me as though I were a breakfast food. Its frontispiece was a flattering photograph of me, standing, with full information as to height, weight and physical characteristics. Then it told all the varied things I could do or had done in the past in immodest terms of praise. Flattering testimony in the nature of letters from friends and political associates whose names were well known, took up a considerable portion of the pamphlet. All in all, it was a work of art that caused me to blush hotly as I mailed it out to the state headquarters of the Y.M.C.A., Red Cross, and other welfare societies in the army work.

It brought results. The first reply to it came from the Y, who sent one of their questionaires to be filled out, saying that if I answered its queries satisfactorily, they would accept me. My eager study of the paper showed me two or three serious defects in my education. Did I drink? Did I smoke? Did I attend church regularly? Was I a member in good standing of any church, and which? Could I drive a car? Could I operate a moving-picture machine? Evidently my boasted life of varied interests had neglected several important wartime needs.

But I immediately answered all questions, sent back the questionaire, and began making good my answers. Calvin Hogle taught me to drive a car in one afternoon. In proof that I had learned, I drove home—we lived at the Highlands then—making the curves at the Gibson creek bridge without wrecking anything, and came into Hogle's garage in fine shape. There I somehow failed to brake properly, and we went right on through the garage, taking with us the back wall.

Ralph Hicks, who worked the moving-picture machine at Manzanita Hall, taught me its intricacies in a single night at the theatre. Fortunately I never was called on in France to operate moving-picture machines or drive automobiles.

Did I smoke? I did, and if war meant stopping it, war would have to get on without me. Did I drink? Occasionally, but never to excess. Living nearly ten miles from a church of my own denomination—Presbyterian — I did not attend church regularly, nor was I now a member of any church organization. I did not particularize that I had not been inside a church of any denomination for a score of years or more.

The answer came back from the Y.M.C.A. that my replies were satisfactory except for church membership. Every secretary sent overseas must be a church member, and the suggestion was made that I join with the nearest Presbyterian church. So I went to Monterey, saw the pastor of that church, and frankly told him of my difficulty.

It dissolved quickly in his kindly interest. His church would accept me in membership under the conditions of over-seas service, without much formality. Would I attend Sunday's service, and receive admission?

I would, and just what was I to do?

"After the sermon, I will call you forward, and put the few necessary questions," the pastor explained. "Then the church will vote you in as a member. That is all."

I thanked him sincerely, and went away wondering whether I'd be able to answer the few questions correctly, or would fail to pass. It was the most serious problem that had yet confronted my war-time aspirations.

WE RESERVE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

THE PEOPLE WILL DECIDE

Carmel will have opportunity to decide at the ballot-box whether or not three-point-two beer shall be legally sold within its boundaries, and if so, how and where. The three propositions on the ballot will fairly cover the question.

There is time between now and election day, May 15, to give the problem thorough study so that an intelligent vote may be cast. The arguments pro and con will be advanced, and both sides will actively campaign for a majority of the electorate in their favor. It will be very much a campaign of education.

It is hoped that a large vote be recorded, so that the result may be satisfactory in its authenticity. Everybody qualified to vote should cast a ballot. This is one of the most important decisions that Carmel has ever needed to make, and it will not be fully satisfactory unless it is determined by a large total vote.

Each proposition upon the ballot should be answered yes or no. It is necessary to give the council direction upon each phase of the question lest one proposition, or perhaps two should carry, while another is defeated. For example, neglect to put "No" after propositions 2 and 3 by a considerable number of electors might leave propositions 2 and 3 carried, with proposition 1 defeated. Which would be seriously embarrassing to the city council.

Let the decision, whichever way it be, come from the entire mass of the people, voting not upon any national issues of wet and dry, but for the best interest of this town of Carmel.

WANTS DIRECT ACTION

In an interview published last week in the Peninsula Herald, Argyll Campbell, our city attorney and a long time resident of Carmel, anticipates the opening of the Carmel-San Simeon highway as the beginning of a swift growth for this village, and suggests that the town be protected against the possibility of that growth being unsatisfactory in quality by direct advertising to bring in the class of people that are desirable.

Campbell's idea is that an organization composed of the writers and artists of the village, with those of similar notions, start in now to sell all the vacant property to people of the right kind, so that when the wrong kind of people learn of the advantages of the town, there will be no room left, and they'll have to remain outside. He is convinced that passive resistance will fail to protect, and that a method of directing the growth must be substituted.

"There are only so many vacant lots in Carmel," said Campbell in the interview. "and they all probably will be sold shortly after the opening of the coast highway. I, and many other residents, do not mind seeing them change hands but we certainly would like to see them purchased by the right kind of people.

"We would like to see them bought by the type of people who have made Carmel what it is, artists, writers, retired college professors and retired, successful business men who appreciate the charm and culture that have become traditional here.

"Many of these people now come to Carmel of their own accord but will they come in the numbers we will want them to in the next few years? Not unless we find some way to bring them here, and the best method I know of is advertising."

Campbell explains further that ordinary advertising is not what will do the trick, but a carefully planned campaign to reach the people of whom he speaks. He says,

"Carmel has always been different and should even be different in its advertising. We ought to get men like Harry Leon Wilson and other big literary names to write copy and artists like Jo Mora to illustrate it."

This is a revolutionary idea. Carmel has always been opposed to any advertising of itself, and we are dubious of the result of a campaign, no matter how carefully planned. It is not always the people aimed at who are hit by the advertising bullet. We might bring results that we do not desire.

Anyhow, it is an interesting suggestion, this of Argyll Campbell's. Give it thought. Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Carmel Theatre a talk will be given by a Southern California advertising man which will give ideas along this and other more different lines. It will be worth while to be informed.

RESURRECTION

He speaks!
And at His quickening Word
Creation thrills with Cosmic urge;
The tiniest flower that erstwhile slept
'Neath winter snows,
Lifts up to join with stars and skies,
In chorus Universal.
Man, now aware,
Throws off his slumber
To grasp anew his Royal gift—
— Life —.

Josephine Mildred Blanch.

JOHN GALSWORTHY

Nobility of spirit was writ upon his face,
Blossomed through all his work like some fair flower,
Love of beauty, pity, gentleness, were his,
And now, his last, inimitable hour
Has come, the peace that shelters all desire.
I know he went smiling into the west,
Looking upon the darkness as release,
Looking upon the deep unknown as rest.

Oh England! not only yours be the loss,
Although you bore him, shaped and made aware;
For we too, have heard his song like a swan,
Coming sad and clear from the upper air.
For us that song will be unbroken to the end,
And find him in the great beyond, a friend.

Stuart Palmer

NO MOON

Full of habitual music,
Intimate, slow,
And clean of wonder—
May night come so:

Shrouding in faded
Old silk skies,
The thoughts I would not
Vitalize;

Bringing no wind,
No moon, no lover,
But deep air as friendly
As trodden clover.

Margaret Craven, well known fiction writer, who lived here during the years when she was climbing the proverbial ladder of success, was again in the village this week, planning to remain here for several months.

Miss Craven has won considerable success with her fiction, much of which is featured in the leading women's magazines of the country. She received her first writing experience when as secretary for the Editor of the San Jose Mercury Herald, she was forced during his illness to write editorials.

From there she branched out into fiction, writing for several years without selling a thing. Then she came to Carmel, wrote four stories and all immediately sold. She has been at it ever since.

Walter Hampden, one of America's foremost actors, spent Easter week-end in Carmel with many of his friends here. Hampden who appeared in San Francisco in what critics acclaimed as one of the finest performances of "Hamlet," drops in to Carmel for a few days every time he is anywhere near California.

It is understood that Hampden may shortly come to live in Carmel, making his permanent home here during seasons when he is not acting. Hampden would add to the ever growing list of actors now residing here which includes George Marion, Helen Ware, Frederick Burt, Frank Sheridan, Frank Hammond and many others.

Robert Young, who plays one of the leading roles in "Strange Interlude" opening this Sunday at the Carmel Theatre, received most of his dramatic training when he acted in local amateur plays.

Young appeared in half a dozen productions in both the Theatre of the Golden Bough and the Abalone League Theatre. Most of his parts, however, were minor roles.

From Carmel, he went to Los Angeles where he was employed in a bank there. One day, he was asked to take a part in a production at the Santa Barbara Community Playhouse. The actor playing the lead became ill and Young took the part.

In the audience the opening night, was a Hollywood director, who became impressed by Young's acting. Immediate success followed, including a chance to play opposite Helen Hayes. In "Strange Interlude" he has again an important role.

Young was married last month and again visited Carmel where he spent part of his honeymoon.

There are many in Carmel who will remember the Indian princess in the first episode of the Pageant-Drama of Junipero Serra, played at the Forest Theater in 1915. Her invocation delivered from the roof of the property room, made for the occasion into a cliff's edge, was one of the thrills of the play. Zuella, I think, was her name in the script; Mrs. Frances Pudan was the cognomen by which everybody in Carmel knew her, for she was one of the village's residents, active in civic and social affairs.

Now comes a letter from her to the Pine Cone, written from Oxford Terrace in London. Under the name of Cecilia Frances, she is playing in the films with independent producers of England, but is accepting an engagement with the British International Film Co. She is singing, as well as acting, she says, and we recall that she used to sing very sweetly in church and our little concerts here.

Says Cecilia Frances, erstwhile Frances Pudan: "I shall always feel that Carmel gave me—as it has given others—the first impetus towards the goal."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Geauque have returned to their home in Carmel after a lecture tour through the larger cities of California. Geauque, who is the author of numerous articles on the world economic situation, says that Carmel is in an enviable position to foster a movement which he considers of grave importance at the present time; that is, to boost commodity prices. "To a practical economist," he says, "it seems that the most destructive single agency in this country is the universal concentration on lower price as the only sales appeal. We are punch drunk from it. Profitless selling has reached such a pass that almost no one connected with commodity distribution in the entire United States—from producer to retailer—is breaking even in the conduct of his business."

"The public is slow to realize," Edwin Geauque goes on, "that a state of affairs which requires that commodities be sold below the actual cost of production militates against the return of that prosperity which has had to turn so many corners on its way to us."

V. Sackville-West, the noted English writer, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers on the Point recently. Miss West who is lecturing in several of the larger American cities before returning to her home in England, made the trip from San Francisco to Carmel especially to visit with the Jeffers.

Carmel's Elite All Ready For Quatr'z Arts Ball Next Week

With residents from all sections of the state clamoring for the limited number of invitations that are being given out, everything is now in readiness for the Quatr'z Arts ball to be given at Hotel Del Monte next Saturday night.

Sponsored by a group of internationally prominent authors, artists, musicians and sculptors centered in and around Carmel, the Quatr'z Arts ball is the first of its kind ever to be given on the peninsula and will rival in more than one way the famous Parisian affair.

The ball will see adherents to the four arts at play, for already they have abandoned their typewriters, brushes, chisels and music to prepare costumes of dazzling and fantastic design that will delight the eyes of all.

While costumes for the event will predominate, many of the local artists and writers are planning to come in their ordinary clothes—a treat to those that think that artists dress wierdly.

The ball will not start until ten o'clock but it will continue until the early hours of the morning. Three orchestras have been obtained to provide music for the affair and it is planned that the morning sun will greet the merry couples.

When dancing isn't going on, an elaborate show, bizarre and glamorous to the extreme will be staged on the Del Monte. A number of skits, written by famous writers, and said to be somewhat too risqué for ordinary performances, will be given during the ball.

Invitations for the ball were being given out this week, the first two having been accepted by O. O. McIntyre, the columnist, and Will Rogers. McIntyre now on the Pacific coast, will come to the peninsula especially for the affair.

Only a number of limited invitations are being mailed out. Those fortunate enough in getting them, can obtain tickets from either Hotel Del Monte or at the Seven Arts book shop from Herbert Heron. No tickets, under any circumstances will be sold, without the presentation of an invitation.

NEWS BRIEFS

Good Friday was observed in Carmel with most of the stores and shops closing from noon until three o'clock.

Brisk and brief showers Monday, with flurries of snow in the hills, helped the rain gauge figures a little on the season's rain fall. Carmel's seasonal total is now 13 inches as against 22.85 at the same time last year.

Monterey county has been allotted $3,000 of R.F.C. money for unemployment relief in April. This will come from the state's portion of Federal funds.

* * *

J. R. McKillop, superintendent of Monterey Union High School, has been unanimously nominated for the presidency of the California Association of Secondary School Principals.

Stainer's "The Crucifixion" was given on the evening of Good Friday under the direction of Fenton Foster of Carmel in the Methodist Church at Pacific Grove, with more than a hundred musicians participating.

Ex-Congressman Arthur M. Free has recently entered a law partnership in association with E. M. Rea, W. W. Jacks, and Irvin A. Frasse of San Jose. Free represented this district in the House for twelve years.

Miss Marian Vidoroni of Carmel was recently elected secretary of the associated student body of Mills College for the years 1933-34.

Carmel Pistol Club Defeats Bank Team

Last Sunday the Carmel Pistol Club won a 1054 to 1016 victory over a team from the American Trust Co. Pistol Club. The Carmel team consisted of H. Martin, D. Ball, G. Wood, J. Williams, and C. Tarr. A second team consisting of L. Johnson, E. Poklen, H. Warren, C. Guth, and E. Walls defeated the American Trust second team 912 to 858.

It is the policy of the large city banks to train their employees in pistol shooting so that in case of a hold-up they will be able to defend themselves without endangering the lives of legitimate customers. The American Trust Co. Pistol Club is a large and active organization, so this victory speaks well for our local marksmen.

Beginning Tuesday evening April 25th the Carmel club will practice shooting at night using artificial light in preparation for a match with the Anaconda Pistol Club, Anaconda, Montana, to take place in the middle of May. The match will consist of five strings of five shots each at twenty yards using .22 caliber target pistols and firing at the Standard American Target having a 10-inch ring 1.12 inches in diameter.

New Japanese Tea Room Serving Unique Meals

Azuma Tei, a lovely new Japanese tea room which opened at 436 Adams street, Monterey, features Suki Yaki, an internationally famous Japanese food.

Suki Yaki is the Japanese challenge to national dishes the world over. It is a subtle blend of vegetables, daintily prepared . . . is a foundation for tender slices of boneless chicken and tofu (a bean cake as nutricious as Pemican, the chief reliance of explorers.) Suki Yaki is served with Shoyo sauce. It is served in a Japanese pan especially designed to develop its flavor, and it is simmered in this pan until it reaches perfection.

Azuma Tei has a lovely authentic Japanese garden, a bridge, pool, flowers, blossom trees, and all. Even the worship corner of a typical Japanese home is reproduced to make even more ideal the pleasure of eating delicious Japanese dishes. Cherry blossoms, too, are now in full bloom. Known in Japanese as Sakura No Hana, these blossoms are internationnal famous. They are identical to the ones that line the famous drive along the Potomac at Washington, yet they are typically Japanese.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelley and daughter Barbara were visitors in Carmel over the Easter vacation. The Kelleys, former residents of Carmel, are now living in Piedmont.

VOTE FOR BEER

At the Special Election to be held here Monday, May 15th

FOLLOW THIS SERIES OF FOUR ARTICLES EXPLAINING ADVANTAGES OF BEER

On May 15, Carmel will decide by the test of the ballot-box whether or not it will allow the sale of the legal three-point-two beer within its boundaries, regulated by the city or the state laws. The purpose of this advertisement, and the series of articles appearing here, is to set before the voters of Carmel, sanely and thoughtfully, the advantages that Carmel will gain through such legalization and regulation of sales.

We believe that it is far better to have sales with regulation under the law, than to have bootlegging and all of its dangers and hypocrisies. And that is the alternative. Carmel should keep in step with the rest of the country in its curbing of illegal liquor sales and the disrespect for law brought about by an impossible situation. By allowing the sale of three-point-two beer, the illicit trade in hard liquor will be curbed.

Beer of 4 per cent by volume or 3.2 per cent by weight is not intoxicating. Many tests have proven this point. The addition of a small amount of alcohol to near-beer does only one thing. It gives the beer a tang and taste which is otherwise lacking. Just as a denicotinized cigarette or coffee from which caffeine has been removed seem to most people insipid, so near-beer has been an unsatisfactory beverage. The beer authorized by Congress has zest and taste, yet is not intoxicating.

There will never be a saloon in Carmel. We are as opposed to that as can be any other persons in the city. We are strongly for regulation of sales by ordinance. In next week's article, we will deal with the economic advantage to Carmel of legalized sale of beer, and will discuss more fully the principles herein suggested.
